

became issued patent '150. Therefore, the '150 cannot be considered a 102 reference for the instant application. However, if the Examiner wishes the Applicants to file a Terminal Disclaimer, they are prepared to do so.

The Examiner has kindly allowed Claims 47, 50, 52, 56 and 65.

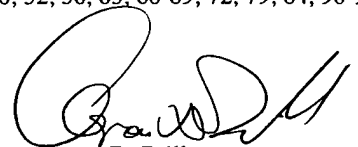

The Examiner objected to Claims 28-31 and 35 as being dependent upon a rejected base claim. Since the base claims 1 and 32 are allowable as discussed above, the Applicants believe it is not necessary to amend to comply with the Examiner's suggestion that they be rewritten in independent form including all limitation of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The Applicants are submitting an authorization to charge Deposit Account 501648 for the fees for two-month extension authorized above.

The Applicant requests that the Examiner do a reexamination of the application and allow the remaining claims (1-4, 9-10, 13, 17, 28-32, 35, 47, 50, 52, 56, 65, 68-69, 72, 79, 84, 96-99 and 101) in the case.
